

Rebirth

Execution Day

I don't believe I was born to die
I wasn't born to sin just to live a lie

Just to live a lie

How do you think I feel
When you betray me
You've lost your place in this world
And now you're set free

Took everything that I gave
With no love left to save
You gave me no choice
I had to find truth

I have nothing left to bleed
Like a knife you slid right through me
Memories left torn apart
Just a reminder of who we are

Everytime I seem to push on through
I feel my world slipping
There you are still pushing me away
How have I been living

Will you be the one to decide this
A different part of me
I can see it on the horizon
With the whole world at my feet

This constant struggle pulls me down
How could you take everything that I gave
With no love left to save
You gave me no choice
I had to find truth

These four walls confine me
Please, set me free
These four walls won't become me

I have nothing left to bleed
Like a knife you slid right through me
Memories left torn apart
Just a reminder of who we are

Everytime I seem to push on through
I feel my world slipping
There you are still pushing me away
How have I been living

Will you be the one to decide this
A different part of me
I can see it on the horizon
With the whole world at my feet

How do you think I feel
When you betray me

You've lost your place in this world
And now you're set free

Took everything that I gave
With no love left to save
You gave me no choice
But to erase you

How do you think I feel
When you betray me
You've lost your place in this world
And now you're set free

Took everything that I gave
With no love left to save
You gave me no choice
But to erase you

Everytime I seem to push on through
There you are still pushing me away