

Yesterday's Bones

Exhorder

Just like a stab through the heart, the world keeps killing you
Question just who you are forevermore
Make it a double on the rocks, but it'll only dull the pain
Maybe it buys you just another day

Shanked in the back, bleed from the Soul
Realize you're dying once again

Yesterday's bones will rise, a fool that should have died
Tomorrow keeps the peace that hides today

Feel like you've been torn apart, when you're living in a goddam zoo
Dissected and displayed, for all to gaze
Ready to burn it and stop
Start it all over again, happy the man that learns to pray

Hunting in packs, striking the lone
Following the orders of the man

Yesterday's bones will rise, a fool that should have died
Tomorrow keeps the peace that hides today

Rise
Die

Shanked in the back, bleed from the Soul
Realize you're dying once again

Yesterday's bones will rise, a fool that should have died
Tomorrow keeps the peace that hides today