

Your Six

Exhorder

When you can't go on, and the fight is gone
Finding nothing more to give
At the crest of the hill, you'll see their blood spill
And revive the will to live
When your six is strong, the will to carry on
Feeds the brave as they put back surrender

If your comrades fall, backed against the wall
And it's certain all is lost
Bring to mind the ones that you call your home
Summon courage at any cost
When your six is strong, the will to carry on
Feeds the brave as they put back surrender

The night turns to day in the firefight's glow
War is merely life when your life's a war

When your six is strong, the will to carry on
Feeds the brave as they put back surrender

From a father to son, follow the sun
To the ones you call your home
