

Anchor

Expire

Turned 18. Inherited a dream. Found out life ain't all it's cracked up to be. Now all my debts weigh heavy on my chest. Fighting the waves with an anchor tied around my fucking neck. I can't think. I just sink like the rest. I've nothing to show. It's been a waste of every cent I've wished away.