HURRICANE

Extreme

I spun my heart back into time
A brand-new day nothing to hide
God it feels like yesterday yeah

Remember we'd be drinking wine
Talk and sing stopping time...
We'd just melt away, ooh...

I need a chance to re-connect
I can't pretend, even expect
Will I ever be the same

Do I accept this as the end
Memories hanging by a thread
You're calling out my name, ooh...

My heart is in a hurricane
An eye of emptiness and pain
Is this the storm before the calm... yeah
Where the moon spills through the trees
And the crow calls out to me
In harmony to sing along

Ooh...

My heart is in a hurricane
A gust of emptiness and pain
Is this the storm before the calm
Where the moon spills through the trees
And the crow calls out to me
In harmony to sing along

My heart is in a hurricane
A gust of emptiness and pain
Is this the storm before the calm
Where the moon spills through the trees
And the crow calls out to me
In harmony to sing along
