

Strength

Ez Mil

I reside inside the resonance of your love
You resurrect my resting soul you shining from above
I resume to consume the fumes you left on my clothes
The residue of your smell spirallin' me through the modes
Of resolution and a little confusion
To what length will I be willing to pursue
Someone who removes so much
Of my strength?

There had been a moment where I wished
That every black car that passed me was actually
The BMW of yours
Obsessive, or rather overly passionate to
No remorse for my own well being
And that part of me shows in every Avenue that I take place in
Whether it be the music
Will never say "If I can't make it" uh
I'll make waves even if God 8sakes it from happening
Will they say I'm trapped again?
Or have you set me free?
The shackles of failure with
Deeper connections polluted me
In this forest of love, I'm an only tree
So when next to me you bloomed
Out of the blue I couldn't believe it
Into the universe I pleaded
Let my branches shelter the hope
Of our growth as one, but if not
I won't wither away until I achieve it

I reside inside the resonance of your love
You resurrect my resting soul you shining from above
I resume to consume the fumes you left on my clothes
The residue of your smell spirallin' me through the modes
Of resolution and a little confusion
To what length will I be willing to pursue
Someone who removes so much
Of my strength?

As I witness
My own movements
Change for the better
Waiting for the weather
Insane as I tether

In this life that we live
Will we abide by the bid?
Are we alive are we dead?
But drinkin' wine drinkin' gin
07 times till we lit
Some jack and lime in a spliff
Will you be fine with my gift?

The list of things I'd like to tell you are
More scribbled than a penitentiary cell wall
With each day passing I cross another line

And each bar I hold limiting the jail call
Cuz now I just sit on the corner of my bunk
Writing songs for the world to call my bluff
These passages are my ultimate confession to you
So I hope at least
That 7 songs are enough

I reside inside the resonance of your love
You resurrect my resting soul you shining from above
I resume to consume the fumes you left on my clothes
The residue of your smell spirallin' me through the modes
Of resolution and a little confusion
To what length will I be willing to pursue
Someone who removes so much
Of my resistance?
