

Fractures

Face Yourself

I'm gonna slam my face against the wall until my skull cracks

I'll paint the walls with fractures till I feel it all
Crimson screams my failures, let the world see my disgrace

I will erase my face
My scars I embrace
And I'm positively fucking tweaking right now
And you can hate me all you want
But no one can hate me more than I hate myself
Self inflicted violence
I wear this pain like a crown
Choking on hatred
In this prison I made

Embrace
Every punch and every scream
All the hatred I hold in

I'll paint the walls with fractures till I feel it all
Crimson screams my failures, let the blood drip down my face
I watch the blood that splatters across the floor
From blood I draw patterns, painting of my own portrait

Embrace
Every punch and every scream
All the hatred I hold in
I'm gonna drag my skull across the floor
Hear it crack, hear it beg for more
Till I'm nothing, till I fucking fall

I'll paint the walls with fractures till I feel it all
Crimson screams my failures, let the world see my disgrace

I will erase my face
My scars I will embrace

You, you motherfucker, you
You thought this was over, huh?
Face Yourself, Crystal Lake
Concrete smashing face

You will never see my face
Forget you ever knew of my name
The broken
The bone

As the blood's gushing from your throat
You will never see my face
Forget you ever knew of my name
You will never see my face
Forget you ever knew my name
Rebirth