Another Post Human Dream

Failure

I never believed we could sink this way
There's no more light
It's always day

You in your ghost-filled capsule treading the space
You can't back out
You won't be saved

Algorithms of demise float over our heads
While all the wrong warnings tangled up in the wrong threads

Remember green
Another post human dream

How could you let that low life stand for you?
There's no more soul
There was never truth

Well everyone's got a voice now
And nothing to say
The world is free again
To be time's slave

Remember green
Another post human dream

Remember all the blue
It's a long time since I missed you

Remember green
Another post human dream

Remember all the blue
It's a long time since I missed you
