Long Division

Failure

You tried but no one cared
The poisoned apple empty alone again
Nobody turns, nobody stands
There's nowhere to run
When nobody cares

I was wrong to ever doubt you
When you told me who you were
I know I'll never stop from falling
From what I lost before
Before I won the war

You've cried, but no one heard
Why can't they see that you've suffered more than anyone
Nobody turns, nobody stands
There's nowhere to hide
And nothing to wear

I was wrong to ever doubt you
When you told me who you were
I know I'll never stop from falling
From what I lost before
Before I won the war

Before I won the war
The drama's gone (this time)
It's all a waste of time (you can't fake this)
And all the dreams you've left behind will rise again
Despite you

Nowhere to run
Center of nothing
Nobody cares

I was wrong to ever doubt you
When you told me who you were
I know I'll never stop from falling
From what I lost before

I wrote a song to every darkness
You showed me how to disappear
Even my enemies were closer
And made so much sense
Before I won the war
Before I won the war
