

Let You In

Faktion

It's been five years since I had my first taste of those then-to-be moments, time won't erase.
We've lived a lifetime in five little years
and while so much has changed, you're always so near.
So close to writing you off for the last time,
then I look at your face; and your smile enters my veins.

I let you in, over and over again.
Then you disappear, and break me all over again.
It's, over.

I tried to move on, I try to replace you.
Then, you lead me on and I start believing.
So, I ask you in, I want to embrace you,
then you turn away, and I'm just a fool;
who was so close to writing you off for the last time,
then I see your face..and your smile enters my veins.

So, I let you in, over and over again.
Then you disappear, and break me all over again.
But the pain stays, memories they won't go away.
But, I let you in, over and over again.

I don't want to be here alone.
I'm falling too easy into the one that I've known.
I'm facing your absence again, and it's cold.

So, I let you in, over and over again.
Then you disappear, and break me all over again.
But the pain STAYS, memories they won't go away.
Then, but, I let you in over and over agaaaiinn.
Over again. (over and over) We said, "It's over." again.