I hate to hear you laugh The memories are fading but my hate continues to grow I live to see you suffer You created a monster I've never been With each embrace I take a piece of you (I use your thoughts & feelings to shatter your future I feed my hatred with your weakness 'cause your life's worth nothing at all) (Your fears & desperation fills my soul with peace) With every drop of satisfaction your traces are wiped away (Now you're crawling on the floor & I see my task is done) I look in the mirror- the walls are falling I'm down on my knees See the blood of my malicious actions Smashing down on me