

Holy Divinity

Fall of Serenity

holy divinity
you kept my horizon saved my light but now I'm paying for my confidence 'cause you were intoxicated by your own beauty didn't mention your conversion to a lord of deception and so i wish I could rip out your spine I hope to feel the warm red running down my fingers leaving soulless shreds of flesh to spill out bloody food for worms in my dreams you're crippled by the knife but now I'm awake and I feel I'm too weak for my bloodlust and so I remain in my barbarous dreams of alteration