Cascades

Falling Up

The flashlights came out
The sound of them move
The wet of the ground
You're starting to lose
You took every breath
You traced all my steps
To start in the streets, and end what is left

I know that this is going leave you now
I know that this is going to take you down
I know that this is going to take you out

And I am everywhere, everywhere
And I am all you need to know

The house that I know
The flags they will blow
The races are where the current will go
The threats underway
The summer lit fades
Will start in the streets, and end in my veins

I know that this is going leave you now
I know that this is going to take you down
I know that this is going to take you out

(2x) And I am everywhere, everywhere
And I am all you need to know

Losing all control
Losing all control this light you will find
You're losing all control
Losing all control you will fall behind

I am everywhere, everywhere
I am all you need to know

(4x) And I am everywhere, everywhere
And I am all you need to know
