

This Is My E.L.F. Weapon

Fallstar

Thoughts into words, words into bombs
See we're headed up north cause the rain runs through our bones
, it just feels like home
So welcome to the playground of the gods
Thought long and hard but never forgot all the places we have come and gone
The people who we've loved and lost

So we raise you up
Like you raised us up
Hear the voices say my way
No we took the narrow gate
Stomping on earth gods
Weaponizing our artwork
Hard work, devotion to bring light into a broken world

But can you hear her pulse still beating
Her blood still bleeding
I hear thousands still singing and they're binding up her wounds
I truly believe that the light will always conquer the dark
Just like I truly believe that the kingdom of God exists within us all

So open your ears and unlock your mind
We prayed we wouldn't die so we could share with you these lines
So open your ears and unlock your mind
Unlock your mind
