

Embrace Oblivion

Fallujah

Beyond the edge of my domain
The sun is rising
Casting a subtle glow
To light the dawn of change
Feel my foundation start to sway
Losing composure
As my constructed world
Falls into disarray

Rejection of my stability
Evaluation of adaptability
Now every structure which has surrounded me
Will either crumble down or stand unwavering
Brace for reckoning

Grinding down to the bone
Devastation of every sacred home

Engrave this moment in your mind
Resting in the afterglow
Chaos will correct itself in time
Embrace the fear of letting go

Unprecedented magnitude of change
Provoking tectonic shifts within the world I create
Now in control, I am awake
Becoming the catalyst of my own fate

Engrave this moment in your mind
Resting in the afterglow
Chaos will correct itself in time
Embrace the fear of letting go

Rising tide of the strength within
Revitalized by the pain inside
And reborn again
Rising tide of the strength within
Revitalized by the pain inside
And reborn again

Grinding down to the bone
That which breaks you down
Will remake you whole