Radiant Ascension

Fallujah

Galvanized
A plan set into motion
Despite the promises we've made
Torn from the light
A lifetime in a moment
Distorted by the waves

Through the horizon, down
Into the blackness of death
It's time to re-emerge
Abandon all we came from
And start again

So spread your wings, reborn as you return to me
Still calling through the endless night, so far beyond my reach
We were never meant to wither in apathy

A ghost inside a memory
An infinite connection of irrational belief
Provided the key

Show me what lies beyond my gaze
Invoking images and faces from forgotten days
Guide me and let the light bestow
Clairvoyant sight into the unknown
Visions designed to blur the past and future
Through the anomaly they speak
All of mankind will look upon its savior
In the reflections I've seen

So spread your wings, reborn as you return to me
Still calling through the endless night, so far beyond my reach
We were never meant to wither in apathy
