

These walls are stained engraved with pain
You will find them under shadows casting shame Some it's all they'll ever know, Angels of the fortunate sons come and go ... You may not Entities pass in the night Guardians and the Reaper fight the will to live shall win Mares of hope ride through their dreams blinding light awakens sleeping dawn it seems
It was all a dream endless dream

I will wish upon a star I believe in you And if my will has strayed afar I rememebered you Will you remember me I the one you sentenced Pennance unabsolved
Answer me save my will have you forgotten me

Pace the hallway blindman for a million miles of stars His mind has seen. think you may he lives in darkness
We're the dark he's seen the light of dream Karen's been asleep forever I know she hears me
She has so much to say, Machine shoots sparks through her egg shell mind Tears stream from her face Unto my hand, unto my heart

I'm a fire without a flame helpless child without a name
With broken wings catch me I'm falling I'm a question with no answer who are you that takes my life away from me unveil the bondaries of the black

I had a dream I was you strong as the fire In your veins then when I called out your Name I would remain and witness the pain
I am beyond silent black I will be back As your guardian

Angels in white you have sacrificed witness and bury the pain Walk hand and hand with the fear stricken child Strengthen the weak and the lame Have you seen beyond the unborn pillar of pennance and lore Perpetual journey into the realm the sovereign servitor
