

yeah but is it enough

fats'e

The momentum set me free
I'm being frank who can I be I'm like the ocean can't you see
She's swimming all inside of me
Don't need another casualty
Or maybe it's my time to leave
I'll fall from the tree like a leaf
Need conciliation for your grief
The moment that I understood
That you have always doubted me
You think I'm irresponsible
I'm dwelling on it constantly
I sometimes don't say anything
Avoiding all this rambling
I'd rather just be gathering
These plants can be inspiring

One time she told me to go to hell
I said I can't wait think I'd do well
Coughing need some syrup can't you tell
I lost all inhibition when I fell
When I fell and hit the curb the first time
But I'm posed yeah to rise
And I won't compromise

Latch onto the notion I'm growing
Don't wanna be stuck on the old things
My ignorance is still eroding
I'm still waking up late each morning
