

Cherry Pie

Fazerdaze

Glazed eyes and cherry pie
We are high spirits in those LA skies
Griffith lookout, look out
The gates will shut and the sky will glow dark
Can you see it changing?

Youth is running out
We finally feel it now
The years from here get faster
As the lights keep blurring past this car
My mind is changing, forever is fading
So we search for something else
And as we watch the sun go down
Everything that we knew then
We don't know now
There's a silence breathing through the car
My mind is changing, forever is fading
So we search for something else

Your phone glow face in the dark
Lights up the living room and our whispers start
Can you sleep well nor can I
Should we just talk all night and compare our minds
Do you feel the same thing?

Youth is running out
We finally feel it now
The years from here get faster
As the lights keep blurring past this car
My mind is changing, forever is fading
So we search for something else
And as we watch the sun go down
Everything that we knew then
We don't know now
There's a silence breathing through the car
My mind is changing, forever is fading
So we search for something else

There's a hush now in our hearts
There's a hush now, it glows dark
There's a hush now in our hearts
There's a hush now, it glows dark (do you feel the same thing?)
There's a hush now in our hearts (all the lights keep blurring)
There's a hush now, it glows dark (there's a silence breathing)
There's a hush now in our hearts (can you see it changing?)
There's a hush now
