

Sleeper

Fazerdaze

Feeling my way through the dark
I can't quite make out the shapes of the night
It's fine I hold my breath and count my steps
I know I haven't woken yet

A flickering mind says I don't belong here
I shut it out till I disappear
I float into another night
Float into another night

All the light falls quietly
A dark unknown surrounding
I fold in so lightly
And darkness shines so brightly
I blend into where my body ends
And sleep begins to swell and tumble
I let it pull me under
