

My Heart Is In Your Hands

Feeling Left Out

Do you have to be depressed to write a sad song?
Do you have to be in love to write a love song?
Is a song better if it really happened?

Running down my face
I'll say that I need you near
It's falling into place
These words that you want to hear
Another ride on the train
I drop you off once again
Brainwaves going insane
It's me and you in the end

This butterfly broke through my chest
Helped carry me home
There is no master plan my heart is in your hands

"These two are so in love"
You just light up my face
Wrap my arms around your ribs
Can't break this embrace
