

Rocky Dennis

Feeling Left Out

Do your feet burn? From walking on those bridges that you've burned

Fake disguise, it's really no surprise

I can't make this deal with the devil because I know

He's on your side He's on your side

Sitting and waiting for you to show your face again

Wondering which mask you put on for me today

I never know what to expect so I'll expect the worst

And I know you won't let me down

You won't let me down

The best thing you can do is leave

Take your evil ways elsewhere

Now, even though you're gone

You've left your mark

Just like a gunshot wound

In time it will heal

But the scar it will remain