SOMEONE NEW

Fefe Dobson

My eyes are heavy and the truth is on my tongue
We sleep so far apart my skin is numb
Everytime I think about what we've become
I wonder if you ever cared about

The nights screaming into my pillow
You were right there, but your body was hollow
It was so quiet you could hear when my heart broke
Like glass

I'm reaching out
Emotional reality is hitting now
I need someone to hold me the way you used to
Do you see it now?
I gave you all my best and you just cut me out
What did you expect me to do?
When you made room for someone new
For someone new

I keep waiting on an old familiar feeling
Of hope, that one day you might see
I keep carrying your cross to prove I'm bleeding
'Cause I don't think you ever cared about

The nights screaming into my pillow
You were right there, but your body was hollow
It was so quiet you could hear when my heart broke
Like glass

I'm reaching out
Emotional reality is hitting now
I need someone to hold me the way you used to
Do you see it now?
I gave you all my best and you just cut me out
What did you expect me to do?
When you made room for someone new
For someone new

You made room for someone new
You made room for someone new
You made room for someone new
For someone new

Screaming into my pillow
You were right there, but your body was hollow
It was so quiet you could hear when my heart broke
Did you hear when my heart broke?

Someone I never expected
Someone I can be myself with
Someone who can shine the light in
Someone who could love me better

(You made room for someone new)
(You made room for someone new)
(You made room for someone new)
(Someone who could love me better)

I'm reaching out
Emotional reality is hitting now
I need someone to hold me the way you used to (Someone who could love me better)
Do you see it now?
I gave you all my best and you just cut me out
What did you expect me to do?
When you made room for someone new...
For someone new

Someone I never expected
(You made room for someone new)
Someone I can be myself with
(You made room for someone new)
Someone who can shine the light in
(You made room for someone new)
Someone who could love me better
