Fenne Lily

Listen to the siren call, it's crying
Bleeding on a foreign floor, slow dying

It's not hard to be alone anymore
Though I'm sleeping with my key in the door

Run until your lungs are sore, ash flying
You're looking like you want it more but you're lying

And it's not hard to be alone anymore
Though you're waking to a day you ignore

And it's not hard to be alone anymore
It's not hard to be alone anymore
It's not hard to be alone anymore
It's not hard to be alone anymore
It's not hard to be alone anymore
It's not hard to be alone anymore

Listen to the siren call, it's crying
