

Farther And Farther Apart

Ferlin Husky

We're getting farther and farther apart, dear
I see a far away look in your eyes
I guess I'm losing my place in your heart, dear
You're wondering how you're to tell me goodbye

That old spark of love has stopped burning
But somehow I knew from the start
You'd soon grow tired of a heart that was yearning
We're getting farther and farther apart

I keep each moment we shared as a token
I hide the thrill of your kiss in my heart
It's hard to know that these words must be spoken
We're getting farther and farther apart

The romance we treasured is ending
I hold back the teardrops that start
I guess there's no use to go on pretending
We're getting farther and farther apart
