

Another Sunrise

Ferry Corsten

I know how it feels to run around
Chasing dreams and falling down
Holding tears inside so no one knows

But when I look upon your face
I see the future, see your grace
Holding you and heaven feels so close

And there'll be another sunrise
There'll be another sunrise in our eyes

I used to think I'd never change
You woke me up and took my pain
And suddenly I felt like I was home

Your peace in sky above
Your light poured in like morning sun
With every ray of daylight there is hope

And there'll be another sunrise
There'll be another sunrise in our eyes