

Farewell

Fiddler's Green

Met you at the station, I recall it was the worst of days
I looked at you, you looked at me, and I was lost inside your gaze
We were dreaming of a bigger life, the world beyond the city gate
Got on the train to somewhere new and turned around our fate

Say good-bye to all the sorrow
Tomorrow we will follow
The footsteps of the brave
Who rush the glory or the grave
We're fortunes favored lovers
Nothing like the others
The more we risk, the more we win
So let it all begin

You asked me if I'd come with you to step into the great unknown
To do things we had never done, that chilled us to the bone
Fighting demons, waging wars against the hate and strife
Race toward a better day and lead a fearless life

Say good-bye to all the sorrow
Tomorrow we will follow
The footsteps of the brave
Who rush the glory or the grave

We're fortunes favored lovers
Nothing like the others
The more we risk, the more we win
So let it all begin

Farewell my town, farewell to you

Our final destination is far away from home
Farewell, good-bye, we tie our shoes
We mustn't wait a single day, come on, let's get away!

Grab your bag
Let's cut and run
Just leave this mess
'cause we're heading for the sun
Hear the call
Feel the air
Our feet will take us far
To the place where we belong
It's the courage of despair
Get away, get away
Now it's time to say farewell

We're not gonna hide away, we won't do what we're told
Take the train to anywhere, bound to die before we're old

Say good-bye to all the sorrow
Tomorrow we will follow
The footsteps of the brave
Who rush the glory or the grave

We're fortunes favored lovers
Nothing like the others

The more we risk, the more we win
So let it all begin

Farewell my town, farewell to you
Our final destination is far away from home
Farewell, good-bye, we tie our shoes
We mustn't wait a single day, come on, let's get away!
