

Girls Along the Road

Fiddler's Green

Oh I'm just in the vein of a nice refrain so pay attention round
And the name I'll tell of a fine young swell and a rich young man called Brown Oh he listed in the Antrim rifle corps all you who listen to me ode

Do the thing that's right going home tonight with the girls along the road

Brown was a spark he was fond of a lark, a married man tho' not chaste
And little he cared if his own wife heard if another girl took his taste
Aye and he himself dressed in his regimental best as proud as a peacock strode Admiring the girls with their long hair curled as they walked a long the road

Oh he courted a girl with nice curly hair, blue boots and a red leather belt
And he idly talked as he onward walked endeavoring her heart to melt
And his gay grenadier with a wink and a leer enquired her name and abode
And he felt as grand as a lord of the land with the girls along the road

Mr. Brown and his love sat down in a tavern hard near by
And he called for a drain of the good champagne and a plate of the old pork pie
And his arms he placed around her waist and his heart with love overflowed
And he says it's alright we'll be happy tonight with the girls along the road

O this funny little man he had just begun his love tales to outpour
When who should he see but his own Mrs B. peeping in at the parlour door With a bolt like a bear she fastened in his hair for the signs of her anger showed Saying I'll tear away your eyes if you go to exercise with the girls along the road

Now to set matters right these women had a fight a first rate tumble up and down
And they sent to smithereens hats, coats and crinolines and the n they set to work on Brown

He was jolly well thrashed and his head all bashed as the crowd their anger bestowed

And his fine uniform was all torn in the storm with the girls a long the road

Now Mr. Brown has broken with the peace he's been taken to a po lice cell

There to ruminate on his sad unlucky fate like many's a fine yo ung swell

And the very next day sure his wife ran away because of this li ttle episode

He's about there still but he never goes to drill with the girl s along the road
