

Question

Fifteen

When I see the gleam in your eyes, I hesitate run and hide Keep all the good things I'm thinkin' to myself
Should be no reason to hide cuz I know you'd be flattered
It's just that I'm afraid that you'd turn away
If I saw we can share some time, please keep in mind the import ance is in two people reaching out If you question my motives, just let down your walls
I will look at you and you'll see what's in me It's just a fantasy I have of being with you, so I can show you how much you mean to me
Can you see me smilin' at you I can see you smilin' at me or is it just that I'm living in a dream
