

Your True Colors

Fight Fair

Why can't you see
How your choices of the past 2 years
Have destroyed the bond that I held dear?
And I, gave you a chance
But that chance is gone and all that's left
Are the memories that haunt my every breath

The pain I felt when I first heard
My friend gone who I treasured
Erased our time found in splendor
This once bright life has last color

She was only 18
She was only 18,
But never again

Where is your mind?
It's time to open up your eyes
Just think this through,
This time it's only up to you

Gotta fight the feeling,
Just live these words to overcome
I'm telling you this as a friend,
Your habits must come to an end
Gotta fight the feeling,
Just break away and hold your own
I'm telling you this as a friend,
Your habits must come to an end

You fell behind, then lost these Friendships for a life of shame
Your choices showed me your true colors, I tried to help over and over

You gave me your word, but when words are lies inked to disguise
I'll make my stand and break off all the ties

Gotta fight the feeling,
Just live these words to overcome
I'm telling you this as a friend,
Your habits must come to an end
Gotta fight the feeling,
Just break away and hold your own
I'm telling you this as a friend,
Your habits must come to an end
