

Cut & Run

Fight The Fade

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to go
But you can bet you won't catch me standing here forever (Run!)

I see you in the sunlight wiping your eyes
But you don't know the mess I'm in Every choice that I make seems like a mistake
This line I'm walking is razor thin

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to go
But you can bet you won't catch me standing (here forever) (Run
!)

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to go
But you can bet you won't catch me standing here forever
I can't let them tell me who I should be
I will find myself when I find my king

I've never noticed this before
(But I see it now, how I'm wearing the crown)
Do I lay it on the floor
(Or do I just cut and run?)

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to go
But you can bet you won't catch me standing here forever
I can't let them tell me who I should be
I will find myself when I find my king

You do not know me
You are not my king

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to (Go!)

I'm at a crossroads, don't know which way to go
But you can bet you won't catch me standing here forever
I can't let them tell me who I should be
I will find myself when I find my king

(I will find myself when I find my king)
