The Trouble with Angels

Did you hear the one about heaven? There's a guy that's running the sky I heard his daddy gave us all seven when we die we might be surprised It feels like the whole thing's made up I can't really see their design Don't want to burn forever so much for water to wine

When you look into a microscope things get real When you take a better, second look miracles fade

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy mission - what was lost has just been found

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy crusade - what was lost has just been found

Did you hear the one about zombies? Three days dead, then it's back to life He runs it all with rigid authority you better make sure that your living inline. I hope your not about free thinking you'll burn in hell to the end of time It's too bad that he's this intolerant so much for water to wine.

When you look into a microscope things get real When you take a better, second look miracles fade

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy mission - what was lost has just been found

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy crusade - what was lost has just been found

Looks like the rain is falling the truth is changing the sky is falling down.

Looks like the rain is falling the truth is changing the sky is falling down.

When you look into a microscope things get real When you take a better, second look miracles fade

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy mission - what was lost has just been found

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown Give up your holy crusade - what was lost has just been found

Filter