

Hallelujah One More Time

Finding Favour

You can hear it rise from places
From humble shacks to sacred spaces
Anywhere the heart's awakened
From all the saints who've gone before us
To all who stand here in this moment
We join the new and ancient chorus

Hallelujah once again
To the God who was and is
And will always be more than worthy
Hallelujah louder still
Until the day that when we all kneel
And together let it rise
Hallelujah One More Time

When other words grow tired and faded
This one still inspires the praises
Even when your whole world's shaking
Just the whisper of it shatters
Every fear that holds us captive
Reminding us what really matters

Hallelujah
All the saints are singing
