My last words to you, I think I might romanticize Don't think I'd be satisfied If all I said was goodbye My last words to you, don't come out as time goes by I think you said thank you Or I might have said see you around But hey? What the hell's the difference anyway? I never could find the right words to say You always made me speechless anyway Words that lurk me to this day No you never heard any famous last words No! My last words to you, don't come out as time goes by I think you said thank you Or I might have said see you around But hey? What the hell's the difference anyway? I never could find the right words to say You always made me speechless anyway Words that lurk me to this day Not much more I can do ..not all No you never heard any famous last words No! No you never heard any famous last words No! Not much more I can do ..not all On, on and on No you never heard any famous last words No you never heard any famous last words No! No you never heard any famous last words No! No you never heard any famous last words
