

Changing

Finish Ticket

Changing, changing
Reasons why I did things that I loved and
Hoping, just hoping that it's right
Cause I tread lightly
Light as a feather, wait to see whether Things are as lost as they seem to be

See you looking around
You had something to say
But you don't want to engage, no no
See the look in your eyes
Full of hope and surprise
Well, time will take it away

I think we're aging
I think we're falling apart
And now we're aging
And we don't know how to stop
And it's a nightmare
And it's just taking us day by day
Day by day, oh oh

Coasting and floating
Waiting for something, something to go
I feel I'm slipping away
Cause I had visions
Goals to obtain, now farther away
I feel they've led me astray, no

See you looking around
You had something to say
But you don't want to engage, no no
See the look in your eyes
Full of hope and surprise
Well, time will take it away

I think we're aging
I think we're falling apart
And now we're aging
And we don't know how to stop
And it's a nightmare
And it's just taking us day by day
Day by day, oh oh

I think we're aging
I think we're falling apart
And now we're aging
And we don't know how to stop
And it's a nightmare
And it's just taking us day by day
Day by day, oh oh

Changing, changing
Reasons why I did things that I loved