

Numb

Finish Ticket

Gut feeling, I'm lying on my floor
And as you told me I should have cared a little more
I'm no saint, but I'm no sinner
Your eyes stare and mine grow thinner
Old friend, it's torture you left on me
And in your absence, oblique uncertainty
As I wallow in my sorrow, I'll press on into tomorrow

It takes numb to feel normal, it's normal to feel numb
Marinate in my bloodstream and soak until I'm done
Yes, I'm drowning out the few thoughts I left on you.

When broken it's your warmth that we seek
And that token of your love, we hit our peak
Give me something good dear, I'm becoming such a fool here

It takes numb to feel normal, it's normal to feel numb
Marinate in bloodstream and soak until I'm done
Yes, I'm drowning out the few thoughts I left on you.

Why can't you understand I lost myself today?
Why can't you understand I know no other way?
And in the dark I found your hand, but I lost myself

It takes numb to feel normal, it's normal to feel numb
Marinate in my bloodstream and soak until I'm dumb
Yes, I'm drowning out the few thoughts I left on you