

Sundown

Fink

I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out

The wind may change the way we feel
The moon rotates and we change, but still
And time may be racing slow
But they still exist here

I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out

And with some [?]
It's time for us to grow
To better [?] who can share and so
With hearts that grow

Yeah, I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
I can see it working out
