

Broken

Firewind

Eyes are open wide, you're dying slowly
Lost in space and time, you're feeling lonely
Shadows moving fast clusters around you
Whispers in your head, you're left in confusion

It's breaking my heart to see you walking through the night
It's breaking my heart to see you fall, no one insight
It's breaking my heart you feel you've given up the fight
It's breaking my heart when you can't see what's wrong or right

Walls of shame you see, you're tired and frozen
You ripped yourself apart, you feel like dreaming
You walk on broken glass, there's no reaction
A strange erratic breeze, no introspection

It's breaking my heart to see you walking through the night
It's breaking my heart to see you fall, no one insight
It's breaking my heart you feel you've given up the fight
It's breaking my heart when you can't see what's wrong or right

So hard to console

It's breaking my heart to see you walking through the night
It's breaking my heart to see you fall, no one insight
It's breaking my heart you feel you've given up the fight
It's breaking my heart when you can't see what's wrong or right

Don't wanna see you fall from grace
Don't wanna see you fall from empty space
I lost the best thing that I had in life
Lay your head on my shoulder tonight