

Mournful eyes, they want to survive
So many fates under this curtain of gold
Playground field now a war zone scene
They're not to blame, they didn't choose this way

Why do we always accept the decay
Where will we all be tomorrow?
How long will it take
Before we awake
If you could look at the earth just like me
Then we would all feel the sorrow
Open your eyes
Orbital sunrise

Killings things, for the industries
We steal the air, nature will not forgive
Laws inflict, animals extinct
We are to blame, we turn the oceans grey

Why do we always accept the decay
Where will we all be tomorrow?
How long will it take
Before we awake
If you could look at the earth just like me
Then we would all feel the sorrow
Open your eyes
Orbital sunrise

Why do we always accept the decay
Where will we all be tomorrow?
How long will it take
Before we awake
If you could look at the earth just like me
Then we would all feel the sorrow
Open your eyes
Orbital sunrise
