

Suffocate

First Blood

The polluted face of life hiding in black clouds unknowingly killing you, killing me.

His filthy hands, are wrapped around our trusting throats but the last thing that we need is another Liar breathing the fire Suffocate, of death down below.

Suffering in solitude as your last breath slips away

With no one ever knowing

From the last generation

Turning their backs to the truth, to the new generation

Continue to spread the truth

Rebellion against the truth

Ignorant minds hide from the truth

Angry minds defy the truth

Greedy minds deny the truth

As we all suffocate
