

Oblivion

Fit for a King

(Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment...)

I look into the sky
I'm crying out your name
I've made my mistakes
And I'm the only one to blame
Hear me, I need to feel your grace
Because I've been waiting, waiting in the darkest place

For so long
I can barely breath
The grip of the guilt and the scars of my sins live on, they're choking me
For so long
I can barely breath
The grip of the guilt and the scars of my sins are suffocating me
Now I can barely breath

Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment
Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment

For so long, I can barely breathe
The grip of the guilt and the scars of my sins live on, they're choking me
For so long, I can barely breathe
Show me the light I need to see

Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment
Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment

Will time heal my pain?
Send me to the grave?
Will I die in vain?
Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment

(The road back to you feels so long
With so many battles along the way
I brought all of this on myself
And I should accept the blame
For everyone I've hurt
Through all my mistakes
You still look down on me
You show me your face in a way I can see)

I look into the sky
I'm crying out your name
I've made my mistakes
But you forgave me
You forgave me

Tell me I won't be forgotten
If just for a moment
Tell me I won't be forgotten

If just for a moment

Will time heal my pain?

Send me to the grave?

Will I die in vain?

Tell me I won't be forgotten

If just for a moment

Tell me I won't be forgotten

If just for a moment