

Pick Up Behind You

Five Finger Death Punch

Do you remember when you said this wasn't real?
Life was just a game we play and time was made to kill
Do you remember when you said we never laughed?
You set me up for failure, then you threw me in the trash

I've forgotten how heavy you are
You're becoming so hard to hold on to
No matter how far or how hard you fall
I'll be there to pick up behind you

Do you remember how the pulse felt in my chest?
Or did you simply block it out, erase it like the rest?
Do you remember how your heart would never change?
You told me as you turned away and left me with the pain

I've forgotten how heavy you are
You're becoming so hard to hold on to
No matter how far or how hard you fall
I'll be there to pick up behind you

I've forgotten how heavy you are
You're becoming too hard to hold on to
No matter how far or how hard you fall
I'll be there to pick up behind you

I've forgotten how heavy you are (Heavy you are)
You're becoming so hard to hold on to
No matter how far or how hard you fall
I'll be there to pick up behind you