

Falling in Circles

Fivefold

Take it, take it away
And I've never been the type
To push you away
But can you see
This isn't me, no
I am just a shell
Of what I used to be
Maybe a better me
I don't know

It's way out in the dark of my mind
Like a poison sinking deep inside
This is where my demons hide
Will they win the battle this time?

I've been here before in another life
It seems I'm falling in circles again
One step ahead, three steps behind
It seems I'm falling in circles again

Chasing, chasing the wind
Tell me where have my friends gone
Never been so alone in my life
And what does it take to win
'Cause I give it my all
Just to stand up and downfall again

It's way out in the dark of my mind
Like a poison sinking deep inside
This is where my demons hide
Will they win the battle this time?

I've been here before in another life
It seems I'm falling in circles again
One step ahead, three steps behind
It seems I'm falling in circles again

So cast your judgment, cast your stones
But when a die is cast who will overcome?
You always say how you're the better man
But when the end is here, who's the smarter man

I've been here before in another life
It seems I'm falling in circles again
One step ahead, three steps behind
It seems I'm falling in circles again
I'm not falling in circles again

Take it, take it away