

Nothing More to Say

Fivefold

The walls are getting thicker with time
And I don't think we have the chance to rewind
This story, just like all the others
Feeling like I'm smothered
Need some room to breathe before I suffocate

So curse my name
I'll take it in
I've hurt you once
And I'll do it again

There's nothing more to say
'Cause it's already been said
Need to get away
From the demons in my head
When it's said and done
You won't remember my face
Get away, I can't take the sting
It's time, I need to break this

Block it out and try to pretend
But tell me is this the way you imagine
You and I, all we ever do is fight
I can't take another night
There's just some things
That we can never make right

So curse my name
I'll take it in
I've hurt you once
And you know I'll do it again

There's nothing more to say
'Cause it's already been said
Need to get away
From the demons in my head
When it's said and done
You won't remember my face
Get away, I can't take the sting
It's time, I need to break this

I'm sorry there's no fixing
What's been broken I am living
In your world of happy endings
Think it's time that you just walk away

There's nothing more to say
'Cause it's already been said
Need to get away
From the demons in my head
When it's said and done
You won't remember my face
Get away, I can't take the sting
It's time, I need to break this

So get away
