

Thoughts So Loud

Fivefold

Careful showing your intentions
Running your mouth
I'm listening to the words
So shallow and fake
But I'll just bite my tongue
Or someone's getting hurt
Well my
Thought's so loud
I'm scared you'll here em
Hiding what I think
Under the surface
I'm calm and tame
But push your luck man
I am bound to blow

If you'd have caught me
On a different night
I might have told you
Half of what I think
But with my
Thought's so loud
I'm scared you'll here em
Find yourself in a bad
Situation I'm done

Dare to show some compassion
Walking around like you're
Wearing the crown
With a smile so fake
But you can't hide from fate
You're the king of the down and out
All you want is just some Place they'll hear it
Hiding what I think
You're blind faith
What I think you're bound to hear
If you don't walk away

If you'd have caught me
On a different night
I might have told you
Half of what I think
But with my
Thought's so loud
I'm scared you'll here em
Find yourself in a bad
Situation I'm done

Walking eggshells around this
Get used to the silence
Your character lackluster to the core
You've been fooling
Everybody else
You call me shallow
I find you hollow
I hold my cards close but you know
One more word I'll strike you down

I've always had the fight in me
I'll keep it close so you won't see

How can you grow
When everything you know
Is all that matters
And I just think you dig your grave
I'll leave you to the bed you've made

I'm calm it seems
But push your luck man
I am bound to blow

If you'd have caught me
On a different night
I might have told you
Half of what I think
But with my
Thought's so loud
I'm scared you'll hear em
Find yourself in a bad
Situation

A different light
Still spitting lies
This time you crossed the line
And I spoke thoughts so loud
Bout time you hear em
Found yourself in a bad situation I'm done