

Sleeping Alone

Flatland Cavalry

We're rolling
Alrighty

Counting constellations on the popcorn ceiling
And staring at your picture on the wall
Rays of lonely moonlight slowly slice through the blinds
As the tears begin to fall

I'm tired of sleeping alone
I just wanna be where you are
Tired of saying goodnight through the phone
And wakin' up each morning in the dark
Better say a prayer
Turn out the light
Sigh and hug my pillow tight
I'll be with you soon my dear
If only in my dreams

Who I am trying to fool, baby? I'm the one to blame
For the forces keeping us apart
I'm stubborn and I'm bold
And work's got me in a stranglehold
Keepin' a vice around my heart
Indifference over distance don't fare well
Maybe a goodnight kiss from you
Could break me from my spell

'Cause I'm tired of sleeping alone
I just wanna be where you are
Tired of saying goodnight through the phone
And wakin' up each morning in the dark
Better say a prayer
Turn out the light
Sigh and hug my pillow tight
I'll be with you soon my dear
If only in my dreams

Ah, here we go again
Off to never never-land

Better say a prayer
Turn out the light
Sigh and hug my pillow tight
I'll be with you soon my dear
If only in my dreams
Better say a prayer
Turn out the light
Sigh and hug my pillow tight
I'll be with you soon tonight
If only in my dreams
