Sim Sala Bim

Fleet Foxes

He was so kind Such a gentleman tied to the ocean side Lighting a match On the suitcase's latch in the fading of night

Ruffle the fur of the collie 'neath the table Ran out the door through the dark Carved out his initials in the bark

Then the earth shook
That was all that it took for the dream to break
All the loose ends
Would surround me again in the shape of your face

What makes me love you despite the reservations? What do I see in your eyes Besides my reflection hanging high?

Are you off somewhere reciting incantations? Sim sala bim on your tongue Carving off the hair of someone's young

Remember when you had me cut your hair? Call me Delilah, then I wouldn't care