

Distance

Fletcher

I need a little space and time
Maybe like out on the moon
So baby, get the rocket ship
Ready, set, I'm not coming back that soon

It's all I can do to stop myself
From calling you up and and causing hell
'Cause I know how it always ends
And I don't want to play again

So I'm just gonna love you from a distance
That don't mean that I'm not gonna miss you
Even if my lips don't feel your kisses
Baby, I'll still love you from a distance

You know I want the best for you
If it means setting you free
Even with an ego bruise
I would choose seeing you happy, oh

And that's what I'm gonna tell myself
When I'm crying alone and it hurts like hell
'Cause I know how it always ends
And I don't want to play again

So I'm just gonna love you from a distance
That don't mean that I'm not gonna miss you
Even if my lips don't feel your kisses
Baby, I'll still love you from a distance
I know we're taking space, that's okay
I know it's gonna change, that's okay
Even if it's over and it's different
Always gonna love you from a distance

I wish it didn't hurt to keep you close

So I'm just gonna love you from a distance
That don't mean that I'm not gonna miss you
Even if my lips don't feel your kisses
Baby, I'll still love you from a distance
I know we're taking space, that's okay
I know it's gonna change, that's okay
Even if it's over and it's different
Always gonna love you from a distance

I know you're taking pictures down
Throwing out letters I've signed
But baby, keep my sweatshirt warm
I'll be yours maybe the next time
