

Back when you told me, told me who you want me to be
Said that you know me, know me like I couldn't see
Give me your armour, told me that it weighs you down
Tied to your honour, weighs about a thousand pounds

And I, I told you who I wanna be
So I'm gonna spell it out slowly

When you told me, told me who you want me to be
Said that you know me, know me like I couldn't see
Oh when you told me, told me what I needed to be
I felt you hold me, wrestling an iron sea

And I've been burning with a fire inside
And I'll be here until the day you die

Read what you're writing
Read what you're writing
Read what you're writing
Read what you're writing
Read what you're writing