

I can't feel my feet when you're around
It will be three weeks until I maybe come back down
And oh, when you spend time inside my head
When I return there's nothing left the same and you've messed it up again

I can see the people on the ground
They go about their business but they quite don't understand
And you see me exactly as I am
And you know I live inside the palm of your hand
I won't stay too long

So hide with me
In this moment
Lie with me
Even though this feeling is fleeting just
Please hide with me
In this moment
Lie with me
Even though this feeling is fleeting just let it be
I said let it be

You sent me flying up into the sky
Everything suggests that I'm as high as a kite
The rescue team came looking out for me
But I was never lost at all I just don't wanna be found
I won't stay too long

Hide with me
In this moment
Lie with me
Even though this feeling is fleeting just
Please hide with me
In this moment
Lie with me
Even though this feeling is fleeting just let it be
I said let it be

Fractures of a city we have seen
Belief left scattered on the ground piece by piece by piece
I look to you and ask what does it mean
And you would laugh and tell me that "It's meaningless you see"

Oh time, never time
In this moment
Time, never time
In this moment
Time, never time
In this moment
Time, never time
Never time
Never time
Never time
